As soon as you step foot onto the property, you will be stunned by the beautiful tropical setting and well-made architectural features that make this a work of art. These characteristics include the clay barrel tiled roof, the beautiful wood, and iron trim, and the decorative floor tiles that exhibit Spanish Colonial flair. This property, which is in the prestigious neighborhood of Las Olas, is thought to have the best location, view, and level of safety along the South Pacific Coast of Costa Rica. You and your guests need not worry about security, as this property is safely guarded around the clock with controlled gated access and 24-hour security guard service. You can easily get to the Coastal Highway, tours, and shopping in the area because the property is just 500 meters from Dominicalito Beach and between the towns of Dominical and Uvita.
