Property Description

Imagine making the choice to arrange your life in such a way that you'll actually be inspired to rise and shine daily, living life to the fullest on this magical organic farm in beautiful Costa Rica. Just 40 minutes from the city and airport of San Jose, you can discover the majestic, terraced mountains of the Central Valley, where rural life releases you from distractions and noise of the city. Santiago de Puriscal or simply called 'Puriscal' is known for its perfect climate where the average altitude is 1,100 meters (3600 feet) and average temperature of 21 C (70 degrees). At this altitude, Puriscal tends to have a longer green season and less wind than other areas in Costa Rica. The farm is located in Santiago de Puriscal, a rural town where life is generally low key, serene, and relaxing. Within a three-minute drive are a multitude of services and conveniences, i.e., banks, lawyers, doctors, pharmacies, a modern full-service emergency hospital, modern grocery stores, hardware stores and many other shops and businesses, churches, and schools.
