Property Description

Set atop the highest peak of the Nicoya peninsula Cerro Potal, this extraordinary 25-acre mountaintop property offers a rare opportunity to own pristine land in one of Costa Rica's most sought-after regions—the Nicoya Peninsula. With sweeping ocean views stretching south toward Santa Teresa, the property delivers a unique combination of natural beauty, serenity, and seclusion. The land is predominantly rugged terrain, enhancing its untouched character and sense of privacy, with approximately 11 acres suitable for building. Its elevation, topography, and scale make it especially well-suited for a luxury retreat, eco-resort, or exclusive residential project that embraces the natural landscape. Surrounded by unspoiled wilderness and cooled by refreshing mountain breezes, the property remains within convenient reach of some of the peninsula's most beautiful beaches near Sámara and Santa Teresa.
