Property Description

Villa Ylang Ylang with two additional casitas is a private estate in Cocles, Puerto Viejo, Costa Rica, set on approximately 4,000 m² of lush gardens within a culturally rich and naturally preserved region. The property includes a custom two-bedroom main residence, two fully equipped guest villas, and a setting defined by jungle, wildlife, and proximity to the Caribbean coastline, offering both residential comfort and flexible use potential. The main residence is a thoughtfully designed two-bedroom home where craftsmanship and natural surroundings come together with ease. Expansive living areas, a custom kitchen, and refined finishes create a composed interior environment, while large openings extend the living experience outward into the surrounding greenery. The layout encourages a fluid indoor outdoor rhythm suited to the climate and setting. The two guest casitas each feature two bedrooms, full kitchens, and open-concept living areas.
