Property Description

"This is an opportunity you shouldn't miss: a property with 7 building areas or more. Half of the property boasts epic views; you can see the Chirripo mountains and the entire mountain range, along with an impressive view of the city. But the best part is the starry night view, with a cool and ideal climate for living." Location: It is located in the privileged area of San Ignacio in Perez Zeledon, an area undergoing development by expats and locals. Furthermore, it benefits from a paved road leading up to the last 2 km. In the area, there are already many luxury homes and gated communities with all lots already sold, making it a favorite area for expats to live or invest. What sets this area apart is the security and tranquility, along with a climate where you don't need air conditioning. Additionally, it is near one of the country's best hotels, Hacienda Alta Gracia, and the Kinkara retreat center, putting this area on the map.
