Property Description

Located in the foothills of Chirripó Mountain at an altitude of 1,250 meters, this organic farm offers an ideal environment for sustainable living and diverse agricultural opportunities. Certified organic for four years, the property cultivates a wide variety of crops, including coffee, bananas, avocados, citrus fruits, potatoes, ginger, turmeric, and more. The property features extensive infrastructure, including a large barn/garage, a compost facility, two greenhouses, a goat house, a laundry room, and visitor facilities. Below the main house, there is a 12 m² concrete shelter with running water. Irrigation systems and terracing have been implemented to enhance farming efficiency, while vetiver grass has been planted to prevent soil erosion. The charming main house is crafted from locally sourced wood and equipped with modern amenities, including solar-heated water and a biodegestor for wastewater management.
