Property Description

The 7 tree cabins are far apart for solitude and peace. Nice decks with tables and benches/chairs, each 30' up in the jungle canopy. These rustic accommodations offer comfy beds, screened windows you may open, A/C, full bathrooms with showers, tiny refrigerators, and safes. Each morning, guests enjoy Costa Rican breakfasts at The Rancho, our beautiful outdoor terrace. For local animals, the tree house hotel planted 6,000 native fruit trees, including the Cecropia tree, which sloths love. Over the next 15 years, the property housed sloths, armadillos, howler monkeys, kinkajous, parrots, toucans, laughing falcons, and hummingbirds! A lot of snakes, lizards, frogs, and toads dwell safely on the land. A broad trail from the hotel to Rio Vieja was created for guests. The trail has many rest places, a waterfall with three tiny pools, a restroom, and a picnic area. - Between Ciudad Quesada and La Fortuna, Arenal Volcano.
