Property Description

Exceptional eco tourism investment opportunity located in the Upala region of Costa Rica, surrounded by tropical forest, rivers, waterfalls, and abundant nature. This property offers a private and authentic environment ideal for developing a wellness retreat, eco lodge, glamping project, boutique hotel, sustainable tourism concept, or nature focused community. The property features natural hot springs within the land, a highly desirable asset in the international wellness tourism and relaxation market. In addition, the property includes crystal clear rivers and waterfalls that create a unique and exclusive setting for both local and international visitors. The land combines expansive green areas, mature forest, impressive old growth trees, and open spaces suitable for multiple development possibilities. Its biodiversity, privacy, and natural beauty make it an outstanding property with strong potential for high value sustainable and experiential tourism projects.
