Property Description

Opportunity to acquire a prime ocean-view development parcel in Costa Rica's coveted Southern Pacific region. Property size of 39,095 square meters (9.66 acres), this elevated property is set within a lush tropical forest rich in native wildlife, offering panoramic Pacific Ocean views and dramatic white-water views and 4 building sites with ocean views. The land enjoys sweeping sunset views, mature trees all around the property and a serene environment where monkeys, toucans, and other tropical species are frequently observed an exceptional setting that embodies the region's eco-luxury appeal. All building sites are strategically positioned across the property with access to public water and electricity, allowing for flexible and thoughtful architectural planning. Just five minutes from the Dominicalito beach, it combines privacy, accessibility, and development versatility. Its mixed-use zoning supports a range of high-end development concepts, including a luxury residential enclave, boutique hospitality project, eco-retreat, or curated commercial components, all well aligned with the area's strong demand for sustainable, design-driven experiences.
