Property Description

If you're looking for a quieter side of Guanacaste, away from the crowds but still within easy reach of the beach, this property deserves a closer look. Located just outside the traditional community of Portegolpe, this 2-bedroom, 2-bathroom home sits in an area of rolling cattle pastures, mature trees, and rural countryside that has largely avoided the overdevelopment found in many coastal communities. It is the kind of setting that originally drew many people to Guanacaste. One of the property's biggest advantages is its location directly on a paved public road. Reliable paved access is difficult to find in rural Guanacaste and makes day-to-day living significantly more convenient throughout the year. The location offers an excellent balance between convenience and privacy. Playa Brasilito is approximately 20 minutes away, Tamarindo and Flamingo can both be reached in about 30 minutes, and Guanacaste International Airport (LIR) is approximately one hour from the property.
