Property Description

If you are looking for size AND a view, this is what you are looking for. The main building area is at the end of a roughly 800 meter entry drive that has recently been improved with added infrastructure and wider passage. Usability: The land is rolling and mostly usable, making it a strong option for those looking for a family retreat, community or a fruit/vegetable/herb producing farm etc... There are numerous potential building sites, and the usability of a good part of the 30 acres makes for a blank slate of creativity for the buyer. Incredible views of both valley and ocean are not easy to come by. Perched on a high-point above a large valley, the views of those valleys alone are inspiring. Add to this the view out to the Pacific Ocean, which can be seen through the mountain range, it's your choice as to which one is your favorite. Sitting 20 minutes up from Dominical (and 20 - 25 minutes to San Isidro) the location is excellent for those who want to beach nearby, but also want the conveniences of the largest "city" in Costa Rica's southern zone nearby.
