Property Description

A Peaceful Retreat Steps from the Beach in Authentic Cabuya Set in the charming fishing village of Cabuya, right on the edge of the Cabo Blanco Reserve, this 360 m² home on a 11,590 m² lot offers a rare opportunity to live surrounded by nature in one of the most authentic corners of the Nicoya Peninsula — just minutes from Montezuma and Santa Teresa. Casa Blanca was designed by Swiss architect Rico Reolon following Vaastu principles, aligning the structure with the earth's natural compass. The result is a home that feels as intentional as it does effortless — with thick walls, large glass doors, and high-quality finishings that reflect a standard of construction rarely found at this price point on the peninsula. The grounds are a world of their own — a mature, 11,590 m² food forest filled with mangoes, coconut, papaya, five types of banana, soursop, and dozens of other tropical species.
