Property Description

Some properties stand out because of their size. Others because of their location. This residence brings together something much harder to find: 180° panoramic views, abundant natural light, a pleasant climate, privacy, and the tranquility of living surrounded by nature without giving up the convenience of the city. Located in Ciudad Quesada, San Carlos, this single-story residence sits on a 4,019 m² lot with 310 m² of construction and has been thoughtfully designed to take full advantage of one of its greatest privileges: the landscape. From different areas of the home, the views extend toward Arenal Volcano, the surrounding forest, and the expansive northern plains of Costa Rica. A View That Becomes Part of the Home Here, the view is not an additional feature—it is the protagonist of the design. The welcoming living room, dining area, kitchen, and several bedrooms are visually connected to the outdoors, allowing the landscape to be enjoyed throughout the day.
