Property Description

Every detail of this beautiful home speaks to creativity, quality engineering and professional craftsmanship. From the time you enter the driveway until the time you leave you will be discovering thoughtful touches everywhere. The three floors are designed to allow flexibility in how you use the home. In a clever twist, all three floors are accessible either via stairways inside the home or separately accessible from ramps coming off the driveway. This makes it possible for you to have dinner guests easily come directly to the third floor entertainment area, or to roll luggage and belongings to the bedrooms on the second floor, or walk into the gym or studio apartment on the first floor. So start with the third floor. The first thing I said was "Wow!" and apparently that's pretty much the universal first reaction. The view is beyond vast from inside or out, and with the doors and windows fully opened sometimes it's easy to forget whether your inside or outside.
