Property Description

If your looking for one of the best views in Puriscal and most of Costa Rica then you have landed on the right house. This property has a 180 degree view from almost anywhere you stand. The houses are located at the back of the small community, private and away from the road. The main house has an open concept design where the kitchen flows in to the dining and living room. Both rooms have their own private bathroom and large windows for natural light. The master bedroom had the view of the mountains and a walk-in closet. The guest house has even better views as it sits a bit higher than the main house. Here you will find 2 good size rooms with a bathroom in the middle. The bathroom was designed to hold the washer and dryer stackable. The living area has a large L shaped window to take advantage of the amazing view towards the town of Puriscal. The guest house is fully independent and has its own back patio to enjoy the sunrises and fresh breeze.
