Property Description

Like the head of a diamond in a box of jewels, this elegant villa stands out as one of the premier estates in the entire Southern Zone of Costa Rica. With a little over 8 acres of property, Masterful Tropical Elegance is a modern villa that crowns a flat section of ridge that reaches out towards the Pacific coast. The property is located at the very end of a side road and is surrounded by hundreds of acres of green zone, which protects the property's long term value, privacy and view integrity to the fullest degree. The house itself is masterfully designed to reflect the site's true potential, while built to the highest standards of quality. The main residence is accessed via a private drive that leads past the guest suite through a portico to the grand entry to the main level. On the main level is a great room that includes a chef's kitchen, two islands (cook island and breakfast island), pantry, laundry and a service area on the south side.
